Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18.—There are indications that the New Deal has decided to jump much of its program under the word "Conservation."

The country and the political writers are today swallowing "Conservation" as a shark might swallow hook, line and bait. The term is being used by the president as a blanket of virtuous intention to cover far-flung government extravagance.

Until comparatively recently the administration would announce the appropriation of an additional billion for one of its various brands of relief as a satisfying soothing syrup for any symptoms of unrest or the purse strings.

Another formula has become necessary. Now every time the country starts to object, to shift uneasily on its bed of pain, we hear "Conservation, conservation, conservation."

Mr. Ickes even suggests the bright thought of changing the name of the Department of the Interior to the Department of Conservation.

Conservation is evidently the latest New Deal abracadabra. The finest kind of conservation right now would be to balance the budget.

PA NEW OBSERVES

At The News yesterday, a reminder of the flood of a month ago was received through the mail. It was a copy of a Western Pennsylvania newspaper, published on March 17. The strange part of the situation was that the paper was still largely water soaked.

Leaves are beginning to develop on trees in this locality, despite the manner in which winter is hanging on, Pa New is informed.

Wonder if the crowds that were in evidence at New Castle churches last Sunday—Easter Day—will be seen in the places of worship to-morrow.

Judging from the number of local fishermen who have tried their luck during the past few days, trout are at a premium now. Very few fishermen returned home with a large catch. High water is one of the reasons for the condition. However, it is believed that just as soon as the weather gets warmer, more trout will be caught in various streams. There isn't a scarcity of trout.

Despite yesterday's inclement weather a large number of persons were seen along the Savannah road district picking dandelions.

Nothing like a motorist more than to have to follow a slow moving truck up a hill. Traffic on the Harbor hill last evening was slowed up considerably as a result of a turtle-like moving truck.

The carpet cleaning brigade was out in full force yesterday in the South Side district. The typical echoes released when a rug is being beaten, resounded throughout the Reynolds, Pollock, Agnew street districts as several young men were noted diligently at work.

Young Pa New received a card from New Castle's One-Eye Connelly. Ruffles Johns, of Scioto street, who is now journeying throughout the state of California. The former New Castle high grinner (Continued On Page Two)

Extradition To United States To Be Opposed

PAIR IN FAMOUS SANTE PRISON

Report American Woman Sought In Case Is Located In London

(International News Service)
PARIS, April 18.—Transferred to famous Sante prison—from which barely one man has ever escaped—Bernard Klein and Jacob Schwartz, held for New York police as alleged confederates in a four-million-dollar United States bond-stealing ring, prepared today to battle extradition.

Simultaneously Paris secret police heard that an American woman, who, with her husband, is sought for questioning in the case, has been located in London, but has not been detained.

Held For New York Detective Klein and Schwartz were ordered by an examining magistrate to be kept in custody until the arrival here of Detective Henry P. Oswald of New York. Oswald will be given an opportunity to question them, but police expressed strong doubts that it would be possible to transport them to America.

While the American embassy reported that there are several persons of similar name and descriptions on American police records, positive identification will have to be established before Klein and Schwartz can be extradited.

Found The Bonds Klein insists that the $440,000 in bonds found in his possession were given to him in Europe, and he tried to dispose of them only in Europe, therefore he can be indicted for no offense in America.

French police are now leaning to the belief that Schwartz was an innocent, unsuspecting go-between for Klein, his cousin, and the American who said he "found" the bonds. While Klein lived here in luxury, police said, Schwartz worked as a poor printer.

Police indicated that Schwartz would likely be freed after Detective Oswald quizzes him.

Accuse Three Under Arrest Of Participating In Hamm Kidnaping Case

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 18.—The department of justice today announced the arrest of three individuals on charges of participating in the kidnaping of William A. Hamm, Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer on June 15, 1933.

Those taken into custody by federal agents were Charles J. Fitzgerald, Jack Pfeiffer, and Edward Bartholomew, postmaster at Bensenville, Ill.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, said the arrests "finally solved this case completely."

Train Bandits' Loot Was Less Than $1,000

(International News Service)
NUTLEY, N. J., April 18.—Virtually every highway in northern New Jersey was under heavy guard today as police sought to capture the daring gang who staged a "wild west" holdup of an Erie train here yesterday. State troopers felt the band would soon be in custody.

Discovery of the desperadoes' abandoned automobile in Arlington spurred the hunt for the fugitives. Troopers were ordered to investigate every possible hiding place to which the gang might have fled with their meagre loot of $958.35.

Find Bandit Car Sidney Hicks found the bandit car parked near the door of the garage attached to his home in Arlington. The police are carefully checking the car for possible fingerprints.

The state police said they had learned the gang had been planning the hold-up for six months, but bided their time until the loot would justify the daring chances they took. The Erie railroad officials learned that six months ago employees of the road had been approached by men who wanted to be tipped off when large sums of money were to be shipped.

Sent Dummy Packages As a result all large money shipments were immediately diverted to a different route and until recently train No. 310, which was held up, carried only dummy packages.

Second Woman Murder Mystery In New York

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 18.—Another brutal murder of a woman was dropped into the hands of the New York police today as they struggled for solution of the mysterious Nancy Evans Titterton slaying.

Today's victim was Miss Mildred McCabe of Jamaica, Long Island, whose battered and partially disrobed body was found under a tree in Ozone Park, Queens. She was about 40.

For some time, the woman's body was unidentified. Then a sister, whose name police would not immediately divulge, made the identification.

According to the police, the sister said she and Mildred were riding with two men in an automobile early today. The two men, still unidentified, assumed an attitude which caused the sister to jump from the car. Mildred was unable to escape, the sister said.

New Castle Hospital Planning To Adopt New Group Care Plan

Group hospitalization as inaugurated by the "Jameson Prepaid Hospital Care" and outlined by Dr. Bissel, is in successful operation in several cities in this country and also in England. Its object is to make expert and scientific care in sickness available to the families in moderate circumstances to whom a hospital bill would be a great hardship; and the poorer class who could pay the small annual membership fee, but who would otherwise be compelled to depend on charity if stricken by illness.

The New Castle Hospital will, no doubt, inaugurate a Group Hospitalization Plan on similar lines, in the near future, to procure these same advantages to the citizens and their families who prefer to go there.

The success of the plan will depend on the hearty and reasonable co-operation of the people and their physicians. There may have to be some changes in course of time until it shall have been so shaped as to operate to the complete satisfaction of all concerned.

Insane Jealousy Takes Lives Of Three In Denver

Kills Man Found With Divorced Wife, Detective And Self In Fit Of Frenzy

(International News Service)
DENVER, April 18.—The insane jealousy that led Amos C. Hayhurst, 41-year-old Denver auto mechanic, to kill a visitor in the apartment of his attractive young ex-wife was at an end today with three persons dead.

Hayhurst, sought for more than 24 hours for arrest on murder charges, barricaded himself in his room and shot and killed city detective Pasquale Marinaro, 44, last night. A few moments later, when half a dozen police broke into the room, they found Hayhurst dead of a self-inflicted bullet wound.

The shooting occurred in a dingy apartment building into which he had forced his way under threats against the lives of tenants. He was divorced last January from Mrs. Edna Mae Hayhurst, in whose room he shot and killed Joseph Dicker, 24, Thursday night.

PITTSBURGH GAME AGAIN CALLED OFF

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 18.—Cold weather today again forced a postponement of the opening game of the local season between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the St. Louis Cardinals.

The hold-up for six months, but bided their time until the loot would justify the daring chances they took. The Erie railroad officials learned that six months ago employees of the road had been approached by men who wanted to be tipped off when large sums of money were to be shipped.

Sent Dummy Packages As a result all large money shipments were immediately diverted to a different route and until recently train No. 310, which was held up, carried only dummy packages.

When the phony report that No. 310 carried $58,000 reached the ears of the gang they went into action in typical old-style movie fashion. In less than three minutes they invaded the baggage-express car of the three car commuters' train, attacked a strong box which contained the $58,35 and fled in their sedan.

Norman McFarland of Moody avenue, city fireman who is stationed at No. 5 engine house, is in the Jameson Memorial hospital undergoing injuries received the other day when he slipped and fell from the fire truck while cleaning it, striking against a chair.

McFarland received injuries about the back which did not respond to treatment and he has been taken to the hospital.

Turks Deny Dardanelles Are Occupied

Government Says Straits Have Not Been Occupied Or Fortified

SAYS TREATY IS NOT VIOLATED

(International News Service)
ANKARA, Turkey, April 18.—Climaxing a confusing mystery which left foreign diplomats baffled regarding the status of the demilitarized zone of the Dardanelles Straits, the Turkish government, through its semi-official news agency, today disclaimed the action of its ambassador to Greece.

The government has been consistent in its denials, issued through the semi-official Anatolian News agency, of reports the Dardanelles zone has been re-occupied by Turkish troops in violation of the treaty of Lausanne, revision of which Turkey already has asked formally and is expected to get.

Being Fortified One such denial was issued last night, and another this morning. Then the Turkish ambassador to Athens informed the Greek government that the straits not only have been occupied, but are being fortified, the latter act something which the government has announced it did not even desire to do.

Advised of its envoy's action, the government came back this afternoon and announced through the agency that "there is no foundation" for it. As for the report, the agency said once more: "We are officially authorized to deny it."

The scientists, Rudolph Walter Ladenburg, Brackett professor of physics, and Cletus Clinton Van Voorhis, research associate in physics, were to undergo blood counts to reveal the amount of radium they absorbed. Their burns were slight.

ITALIAN TROOPS TO MOVE ON CAPITAL

Prime Minister Baldwin Of England Says League Can't Halt Wars

(International News Service)
The law of force ascended sharply in Europe and Africa today and the world's peace machinery squeaked in failure.

Premier Benito Mussolini through his Milan newspaper Popolo d'Italia declared the Italian armies would continue their smashing drive into Ethiopia and bring the African campaign to a "conclusion," described as "occupation of the (Ethiopian) capital, all strategic arteries, railways, and caravan routes."

Baldwin Sees League Incompetent Shortly afterward Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin of Great Britain, speaking at Worcester, damningly admitted the League of Nations is "incompetent" to halt wars, and lamented that military sanctions could not be applied.

In Geneva the league received another appeal from Emperor Haile Selassie for "strict application" of the covenant, including the use of force against Italy. The appeal (Continued On Page Two)

RITTER ENROUTE TO FLORIDA

Protests Action In Impeachment

Senate Action By Precise Vote Needed Strips Him Of Judicial Robes

VOTE OCCASIONS
SOME COMMENT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Athen-faced, white-haired, 65-year-old former federal judge Elster L. Ritter was enroute to his Florida home today, stripped of his judicial robes, but having sharp protests in the wake of his impeachment by the senate.

Acquitted on six specific articles of impeachment, Judge Ritter was convicted on a blanket article, lumping all six charges. This procedure was without precedent in senate impeachment history.

President Shattered

The senate also shattered another precedent by voting unanimously—90 to 0—against denying him the right to "enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States." This ruling made the judge eligible for reappointment to the federal judiciary or election to federal office, despite his impeachment.

The senate's vote, convicting Ritter by the exact necessary two-thirds majority—56 to 28—was the subject of wide discussion in the capitol. The youthful, black-haired senator Sherman Minton (D) of Indiana, was credited generally with having cast the deciding vote. He voted to acquit Ritter on each of the six specific charges and then switched to vote him guilty on the "catch-all" blanket charge. Curiously enough, Ritter was a native of Indiana.

suspicion for loitering around the airport and Portia frees him. Later she gets him a job as a chauffeur with a friend Mrs. Langwell, (Emma Belle Buxton) who later has Graves arrested for stealing her bracelet. Again Portia frees him.

Restores Sight

When Dr. Winslow returns from Europe he has perfected an operation which restores sight in cases such as Louise Grey and Portia pleads with him to operate upon her sister. He refuses. Later, Roger Winslow is cracked up in a plane crash and brought into the Grey home. Dr. Winslow is called, responds, and after a change of heart consents to operate upon the blind girl. Roger is brought into the home by a "passing stranger" Arthur Gilchrist. Prior to this Portia has found out that Dr. Winslow is the owner of some run down tenements which she is trying to abolish, the news coming through a brattish youngster Celia May (Katherine Gange). The finale of the play shows the obvious. Louise has her sight restored, Roger is well and engaged to marry her, Guy Graves comes back with a splendid job and Portia agrees to marry him.

In spite of the difficulties and weakness of the lines, the young players handled themselves well. The comedy character in the play Izzy Cohen (Frank Taylor) was the one character bearing out the description of the play title. He was an exceptionally difficult part but he handled it. Miss Clara Hartsuff directed the play and between acts was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses.

Orchestra Aids

Interspersing the acts were orchestra numbers by the high school orchestra directed by Joe F. Replogle. They seemed to be in more than ordinarily good fettle, playing with a finish that was pleasing.

The following is the program of music and the committees of the high school responsible for the success of the play.

Emerson Overture—Beethoven.
Ballet music from Faust—Gounod.
A Mighty Fortress is Our God—Bach-Damrosch.
Sleeping Beauty Waltz—Tchaikowsky.
Marche Alla Turca—Mozart.

was delivered to league diplomats preparing to formally put in writing their admitted failure to effect a conciliation between Italy and Ethiopia.

Decisive Battle Near

Rome, April 18.—A brief and vague sentence—"On the southern front our vanguard is in contact with the enemy"—in Communique 188 today shed the only light on what is believed to be the beginning of the decisive battle of General Rodolfo Graziani's offensive in Ogaden and Harar provinces.

"Our air force is very active," the Daily Telegram from the front added, indicating heavy bombardments of the troops of Ras Nazibu, commanding the Ethiopian armies.

"In the Dessye region more chiefs and other notables presented themselves to our military authorities and made acts of submission," said the communique.

To Push Towards Capital

The population appears to be very glad to be under Italian rule." News dispatches say that Marshal Pietro Badoglio and his general staff is due in Dessye today to direct the push towards Addis Ababa. A powerful radio station has been erected there for communication with army field stations.

A dispatch from Asmara reported the occupation of more territory in the British zone of influence—this time invasion of the plain of Balasa, West of Lake Tsana.

Demand Tighter Sanctions

LONDON, April 18.—Great Britain next week will demand before the League of Nations council that the screws of existing sanctions against Italy be turned tight to halt the Fascist advance into Ethiopia, it was disclosed in high official quarters today.

Britain, it was stated in confirmation of an International News Service dispatch from Geneva yesterday, will not demand further sanctions be applied, but will be content with a drastic tightening of those already in effect.

Stopping of leakages is all that is needed to seriously cripple Italy, according to the British view, and therefore the government was agreeable to the French request to postpone consideration of further action in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis until next month, after the French elections.

Ticklish Situation

Furthermore, the British hope that the season of the "big rains" in Ethiopia, beginning next month, will check the Italian armies.

Britain's decision to abandon her previously-planned demand for oil sanctions against Italy was based partly on the ticklish situation in the Balkans created by persistent reports that Turkey had re-vitalized the Dardanelles Straits in violation of the treaty of Lausanne.

The explosive Balkan situation resulted in Britain's virtually leaving Ethiopia to defend herself alone for another month, despite the observation of Ethiopian supporters that there may not be much left of the kingdom by the middle of May.

The British foreign office was shocked and incredulous on receiving the report Turkey had occupied the straits. "The embassy here said the reports were 'absolutely false,' but nevertheless they persisted."

"We can hardly believe the report," said one high official, "especially since Turkey joined in the protest against the Rhineland occupation by Germany, and since the Turkish formal request for revision of the Lausanne treaty was sympathetically received."

Uniform diplomats are unfair. If a youth makes an average of 75, his diploma should read: "75 per cent educated."

Dear Pa News:—

A recent letter that I received from one of our citizens stated that he had seen a sparrow hawk kill a sparrow. I am answering the letter this way: We all know that we have many sparrows about us and very few sparrow hawks. I am very sorry for the death of the sparrow, but a little wild life about us like the sparrow hawk is welcome. One need not fear that one sparrow hawk would cause a noticeable destruction among the plentiful sparrows. I am glad the writer did not kill this interesting bird for sparrow hawks are on the protected list.

custody in Los Angeles. Pfeiffer in St. Paul and Bartholmey in Bensonville.

Hamm, who is president of the Theodore Hamm Brewing Company, was kidnapped after he had left his office for lunch. He was held by his abductors for four days, and released near Wyoming, Minn., after payment of $100,000 ransom.

Hoover disclosed that Hamm was held at Bartholmey's home at Bensonville immediately after the kidnapping.

The three arrested are members of the old Alvin Karpis-Barker gang. Karpis, often referred to as the current public enemy number one, is still at large.

Arthur R. Barker is now in Alcatraz prison, while Fred Barker, another member of the Karpis-Barker gang, was killed in a gun battle with G-men in Florida last year.

KUS KUS KA HEARS "COLONIAL CUSTOMS"

April meeting of Kus Kus Ka chapter, Daughters of American Colonists, held Friday in the home of Miss Gevion Stevenson on North Beaver street, was replete with interesting activity.

An unusually long business session, presided over by the regent, Mrs. Morford Throckmorton, of Beaver, preceded a delicious luncheon. Mrs. Benjamin Beisel, the chapter's delegate to the state conference held recently in Warren, Pa., gave her report of its proceedings and included an outline of future projects contemplated by the organization.

In the afternoon an absorbingly interesting address on "Colonial Customs" was delivered by the Rev. Philip C. Pearson of Trinity Episcopal church, who designated each phase given by the article used for that purpose. These articles had been used by those ancestors of Rev. Pearson who had settled in what is now Westburyport and vicinity, in Massachusetts.

They transported the audience back to the very earliest days of colonial pioneers and marked the sharp contrast between their privations and hardships and modern conveniences.

The next meeting of Kus Kus Ka chapter will be held in June, with members residing in Rochester, Pa., acting as hostesses.

"NICKELODEON" DAYS RECALLED AT CLUB

An evening of entertainment that went "round" and "round" in roars of laughter, was the "Nickelodeon" program held at the New Castle Field club, Friday evening, in observance of their stun night contributions. It proved one of the most successful affairs undertaken, and recalled vividly, the old nickelodeon theatre days, to the large assemblage of members and friends in attendance.

The selection of posters and bills of advertisement that were displayed in the lobby of the club house, revealed to the guests, that four western pictures and two comedy films, would be shown, featuring their favorite stars of yesterday. Upon paying a nickel admission fee to Mrs. T. W. Dickey, cashier, the guests filed into the temporary auditorium, where they took their places in the rows of seats provided.

During the screening of the pictures, old favorite tunes were played on the piano by Mrs. J. B. Matthews, that added more spice to the evening's entertainment. Not forgetting the usual sale of peanuts and popcorn, as was the custom on matinee afternoon, three lads, Tom Heck, James Foster and James Frew in "Peddlers" white England Hangs Them.

Addis Ababa in 3 Days.
The U. S. A. Holds Back.
Seeing The Inside.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

TWO THOUSAND English men and women paraded around Winslow Green prison Thursday, protesting, while British justice hanged Dorothy Waddingham, thirty-four-year-old mother of 5 children one of them only six months old.

She had committed murder; and in England when you commit murder they hang you, protest or no protest. The crowd, led by Mrs. Violet Van Der Elst, who objects to any capital punishment, was orderly. Some knelt and prayed.

Only the new King Edward could have saved the woman's life and English kings are too wise to meddle with law.

THE WOMAN had murdered with poison a patient in her nursing home and the patient's daughter to get an $8,000 legacy, willed to her by the victim. The trap was sprung, a black flag was run up on the prison flagstaff, women knelt, praying and weeping. England had hanged the ninth woman in this century.

They hang them in England and they have five murderers. We parole them, or pardon them, or let them almost die of old age, and have thousands of murders.

ROME REPORTS "Addis Ababa in three days" meaning that Ethiopia's capital is to be taken next week. That might remind some Italians, unpleasantly, of the big war, when Germans marching through Belgium, held up five fingers saying in German: "Paris in five days."

It was a long "five days" but Germany was fighting France, England, Russia and some other countries. Mussolini is fighting Ethiopia.

HE SAYS, by the way, that if Halle Selassie wants peace now, he must go direct to Marshall Pietro Badoglio and get it from him. The League of Nations has waited and wavered, too long to have anything to say about it. Victory makes us independent.

YOU READ with mild surprise that throughout the world, generally, industrial activity would have been ahead, recently, except that the United States held down the average. Leaving out the United States, world production increased. You wonder when this "richest country on earth" will catch up and START AHEAD.

The "annualist" shows that in spite of floods, business here improved last month; the important increase was in automobile production. Men want to move, above whatever else they do.

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

IF I LIVE TO BE A HUNDRED

I've thought it all out. . . I know just what I'm going to say to the newspaper boys when I'm a hundred years old.

"Boys," I'll say to the young fellows, "you see before you a perfect example of what can be done if a man sets his heart on it and lives according to a set program.

"I owe my advanced age, my physical sprightliness, my mental alertness to the fact that I always ate what was good for me and never indulged my appetite.

"I am alive in this exciting year of 1935 because I never worried, never fussed about the little irritations of life, never allowed the ephemeral insects of human conduct to upset my calm spirit.

"I am living today because I have always had eight hours of sleep a night, always took my morning and evening exercises, never ate too much, always took a cold bath every morning, was moderate in all things.

"Boys, you see me here today because I never lost my temper when life went wrong. No matter what happened, I kept my sweet disposition unsmothered by bitterness and melancholy.

"I owe my longevity—my vivacity, if you wish a better word—to my strong will, to my life-long abstention from cigars, coffee and chewing tobacco.

"In closing, gentlemen, I wish to assure you that any of you, if you follow my program, will also be able to enjoy a century of serene existence."

The newspaper boys will take careful notes and print everything I say in the paper—because I will be a hundred years old. . . And none of my friends will be around to testify that the only scrap of truth in the interview will be my statement that—I never chewed tobacco.

How is it possible that a student should go four years to any high school, presumably doing his regular school work, writing essays, reports, themes, examination papers and so on, without learning the obligation to do his own work and not steal other people's stuff.

Here is a question of fundamental intelligence and integrity. It involves not only law and morals, but sportsmanship. Are the schools driving it home to their pupils? They should be doing so, from the kindergarten up.

Washington reports a tax-bill split, but nothing about splitting taxes.

The opposition claims Governor Landon is not talking enough, which in itself makes him one of the most extraordinary of our political brethren.

What, by the way, has happened to the League of Nations? That new building at Geneva seems to have left the organization all dressed up with no place to go.

AUNT SOPHRONY ANSWERS JUNIOR'S 5,707TH QUESTION

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:41. Sun sets tomorrow 5:17.

The five cent glass of beer, like the five cent cigar has a hard time coming back. The tax is the cause it is claimed. Some five cent glasses were too big at that.

Two great American slogans: "Ante up and come across."

Fond Mother: "Well, son, what have you been doing all afternoon?" Tough Youngster: "Shootin' craps."

Fond Mother: "That must stop. Those little things have as much right to live as you have."

There are newspapers that will not take the political advertising of candidates they are opposed to. That's carrying politics right into business. Of course it is a sin to take money off some candidates, but they would not be able to keep it anyway.

It has been demonstrated most thoroughly that money does not make happiness. There are far more divorces among those who have money than those who have not—and the monied ones are the worst.

A love thief never uses a mask and gun. He employs smiles and wiles.

A newspaper man is cutting quite a figure in the presidential fuss. He is a good man and would make a good president. We would not have to be introduced to him if he is elected. Mr. Knox of Chicago, if you please!

Lady: "You would stand more chance of getting a job if you would shave and make yourself more presentable." Tramp: "Yes, lady. I found that out years ago."

Candidates used to speak from soap boxes. These days a truck is an ideal speaker's platform.

The doctor was questioning the new nurse about her latest patient. "Have you kept a chart of progress?" he questioned. The nurse blushed: "No, but I can show you my diary."

War will cease when the world ceases to admire great warriors.

Doris: "Isn't Gyp a naughty dog, mummy? He ate my dolly's slipper."

Mother: "Yes, dear, he ought to be punished."

Doris: "I did punish him. I went straight to his kennel and drank his milk."

The modern home has every comfort except a sound proof telephone booth to protect those who aren't talking.

The scientists declare that the insanity rate is three times higher among the unmarried than among the married. It may be that the married ones do not have time to think about going buns.

MUSICAL DENTIST CHAIR
The ingenuity of science has expressed itself in still another new way. This latest expression is in the form of a new type dentist's chair which is supposed to make dental operations less disagreeable. In it the fact that the brain likes pleasant sounds and will remember them long after unpleasant ones have been forgotten has been put to work. The chair appears to be an ordinary one, but when the patient places his head on the headrest a pleasant tune drifts mysteriously through his brain. These musical notes do not enter through the ears because this would make their reception by the brain secondary to that of the sound of the grinding drill. Instead they are transmitted through the bone in the head from specially devised plates fitted in the headrest and connected electrically with a phonograph in another room. The music can be heard only by the person in the chair and tests show that it does have a quieting effect on patients, especially children.

Cigarette smoking and drinking is taboo in Corry, Pa., by a resolution passed by the school board. That seems fair enough.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES
Boss: "Did you wash the floors this morning?"

Green Worker: "No."
Boss: "No what?"
G. W.: "No soap."

Teacher in CCC Camp—When we have everything in common and your business is everybody's business, what is it called?
Student—It is usually called gossip.

It may have been the good Georgia roads or the good drivers but anyway O. L. Culpepper found a roll of bills containing $115 on the running board of his car which a neighbor had previously lost. It had stayed there through a rainstorm and four days of driving.

1st Boy—Where did you hear about that?
2nd Boy—I was taught it.
1st Boy—"Teach it?" Who learned you to talk that way?

Are men superior? Well, you never see the grown children feeling disgraced because mother made a fool of herself.

Maybe Lot's wife looked back to see if the fire engines had arrived.

A PLACE FOR SPELLING REFORM
"How absurd," said the gnat to the gnu,
"To spell your queer name as you do!"

"For the matter of that," said the gnu to the gnat.
"That's just how I feel about you."

While making do clothes some 30 years ago Mrs. Marion Lindsey of Arkansas accidentally swallowed a needle. It turned up recently, pushing its way through the skin of her right arm. She now uses it to sew and mend for her children.

E. E. Frankfield, of Bethlehem, Pa., says he thinks it's time for the "fool-killer" to come along—and suggests that he would have to labor more than 30 hours a week to keep up with his work.

"I went to college."
"You're hired."

A VERSE FROM THE BIBLE
All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way.—Isaiah 53:6.

When he is born, they pity the mother; when he marries, they pity the bride; when he dies, they pity the widow.

Out in the sticks, if you know where the chairman's property is, you know where the W. P. A. boys are working.

An ex-governor of Ohio 60 years old got married. He forgot the marriage license in the clerk's office and was arrested for running through a red light with his bride. He is going on a European wedding trip so the bride better hold his hand or he will forget her over there.

If a man wants to enjoy the spice of life he will have to act peppy.

After a man works hard for forty years or more and gathered together a little plunder to help him through his old age, he doesn't like it when he is taxed to help keep a lot of birds who never worked very

The World At A Glance

No Revolt In Mexico.
Calles Believed Out.
Latin American Trade.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

A REVOLUTION is not looked for in Mexico. The principal figure, General Plutarco Calles, not only is out of the country, but has been counted out. Actually the government of President Lazaro Cardenas waited until the opposition to Calles was overwhelming prior to sending him and his three principal supporters to the United States. Labor had threatened a general strike unless Calles departed.

The Roosevelt administration is not likely to tolerate any anti-Mexican government with tactics from the United States on the part of Calles. Thus he seems finished.

General Calles started out as a revolutionary and ended up as a wealthy land owner. Mexican labor began to fear he would invoke fascism. He seemed proceeding in that direction.

LATIN AMERICAN TRADE

The Alexander Hamilton Institute finds that the foreign trade of the United States with Latin America during 1935. This country's imports from all of the Latin American countries were 24.3 per cent larger in 1935 than during 1934. Exports from the United States to Latin America, on the other hand, showed a total increase of only 12 per cent.

A bulletin by the institute adds: "The trade between the United States and Latin America clearly disproves the theory that the devaluation of the currency results in an increase in exports and in a decline in imports. The foreign trade of the United States with Latin America as well as with other countries has definitely shown that the movement of international trade under present conditions is primarily determined by business conditions prevailing in the various countries."

"The improvement in business conditions in the United States has resulted in an increased demand for various types of raw materials. Similarly the drought during the past year, which materially reduced commodities, necessitated an increase in imports of these commodities.

"The trade of Latin America shows the same tendency. Those countries which have enjoyed increased business activity such as Mexico, Argentina, Chile, Peru, have increased their imports from the United States. On the other hand, countries which have not yet benefited materially from an improvement in business conditions such as Costa Rica, Honduras and Venezuela, have actually imported less from the United States during 1935 than during 1934."

FLOW OF MONEY
Here's an interesting little item from the financial column of the New York Sun:

"The stock market usually is full of checks and balances. Some time ago, when a flow of European money was leaving the gold standard countries, we missed much of it because of the uncertainty of the dollar's position. Now, when the franc and other gold currencies again are shaky, the current of foreign funds is met by a handicap at our ports of the threatened heavy taxation on dividends contained in the new tax bill. These days capital scarcely knows which way to turn, and only one thing is certain: The poor aren't going to get much of it."

STATES SHY AWAY

Assertions of Republican leaders that relief should be turned back to the states find no welcome in the states.

They insist that the problem is national like all other crises, and that only the federal government can cope with it.

They urge that the government organize better, using the best of local people—"but don't shove the burden back on us!"

As for the unfortunate people involved, they have no faith in state or county. Politics on a local scale is infinitely worse than politics on a national scale. And countries haven't even enough money to repair roads much less take care of the destitute.

ROADS

Incidentally, millions will be required to repair roads this year. Record-breaking frost and floods have caused inestimable damage to highways. Another outlay that had not been reckoned with.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

DOES BETTER NOW.

True or untrue, it's a good story that was told on a chap who travels much and chooses the high-brow hotels at which to sleep and eat.

They say that he got into a classy cafe, when he was starting out on his spending career, and was unable to make anything out of the menu. Finally, he pointed to a spot on the menu and said to the waiter: "Bring me some of that."

The waiter looked to the spot pointed out, and replied:

"I'm sorry, sir, I can't do that as the orchestra is playing it."

Today's Yesterdays, April 18, 1431—Jeanne Darc was found guilty of blasphemy and imposture, and doomed to be burned at stake.

On the same evidence, a few years later, she was determined to be a saint.

April 18, 1775—British authorities forbade travel in Boston after dark, and in the dark Appolos de Riviere known as Paul Revere, and William Daves crossed the river and rode off toward Lexington and Concord to warn the Minutemen of the coming of a British force to seize the arms which Tories had told the British were stored there, and arrest John Hancock and Samuel Adams.

Curiously, April 19, is also the date of the first blood shed in the War Between the States, of the first conflict between U. S. and German forces in the World War. April 19 is our most bellicose day.

April 19, 1903—A native woman at Barra, Gold Coast, West Africa, gave birth to living sextuplets. This is attested by two British doctors who attended her. Previously she had had quadruplets once, triplets twice. Thus in four confinements, she bore 17 children.

It's True—You're wrong if you believe a woman doesn't attain her majority until she is 21. In a third of the states, a woman is of age at eighteen.

Sir Thomas Urquhart, famed translator of Rabelais, laughed himself to death on hearing that the Stuarts had regained the English throne.

Correctly Speaking—

In referring to a person, do not use "which" as a relative pronoun. Instead of saying "the people which do that are poor sports," say "the people who do that are poor sports."

Eastern Star To Attend Services

Three Chapters Of O. E. S. To Attend Service Sunday Night At Trinity Church

New Castle Chapter, No. 105; Shenango Chapter, No. 333; and Cathedral Chapter, No. 440, Order of the Eastern Star, their officers, members, friends, and relatives in addition to the people of Trinity church are attending a special service tomorrow evening in the church beginning at 7:30 p. m. As this Sunday is the octave of Easter, the emphasis will be on the great victory of Christ over the powers of evil, and over death in His resurrection. This is appropriate to some of the ideals of the order and fits in directly with its beautiful ritual. Therefore Low Sunday is the most appropriate one in the whole Christian Year for the united service of the three chapters of this great and influential local fraternity among women.

The guild room will be open from 6:30 p. m. on, as a place where members of the O. E. S. may assemble; later, just before the beginning of the service, to march into the church in a body.

The special musical program to be rendered by the Senior Choir, with Miss Isabel T. Johnson at the organ is as follows:

Organ Prelude—"Gavotte," Padre Martini.

Professional hymn 171, "The Day of Resurrection," J. Michael Haydn.

Glória Patri—Goodson.

Magnificat—J. T. Field in D. Nunc dimittis—J. T. Field in D. Hymn 180—(sung kneeling) "Forty Days of Easter Tide," William D. MacLagan.

Hymn 222—(before sermon) "Nearer, My God, To Thee," Lowell Mason.

Antheum—"No Shadows Yonder," (from "The Holy City") A. R. Gaul.

Presentation sentence—Beethoven in G.

Recessional—Hymn 173, "The Strife Is Over," Palestrina.

Organ postlude—"Jubilate Deo," Alfred J. Silvers.

At the 11 a. m. service the Easter music, beautifully presented last Sunday, will be repeated. The services at 7:30 a. m. and 11 a. m. give the last chance for people to receive their Easter communions. At all of the services, the special ceremonial prescribed for the Easter season will be followed.

Subject to Republican Primary, April 28.

(Political Advertisement)

CAN YOU DEFINE A HARMONY REPUBLICAN?

What is a "Harmony Republican". The voters have seen so much of the phrase that by now it really should be defined. Does it mean a Republican who is genuinely interested in harmony in the Republican ranks, or does it mean that he is a Republican who wants harmony only if it agrees with his ideas?

Do Republicans of Lawrence county believe in hand picked slates in the primary election? Will they blindly follow the dictates of a few people styling themselves as "Harmony Republicans" or do they still believe in the mechanics of an honest, open primary?

J. Campbell Brandon

A primary election is held to select, after careful consideration, the candidates best fitted for the offices to be filled. It follows therefore that the people themselves should be the judges. That is the reason the old caucus system was abandoned and the direct primary substituted.

Don't be fooled with that "Harmony Republican" tag. The slate contains names of men who are unopposed for nomination and who will get the votes of all Republicans. They were not asked if they wanted to be listed on the "Harmony Republican" slate. Their names were placed there as a bait to get votes for Brown for Congress.

In offices that are contested the "Harmony Republican" slate is merely the choice of a few selfish individuals who want to dictate the course of the Republican party. Lawrence county has never been sympathetic to wards slates or bosses in politics. Lawrence county people think for themselves and vote as they please.

J. Campbell Brandon is not on the slate of the "Harmony Republicans" and very properly so. He will not be bossed or dictated to. He will not trade his future course of conduct for a few votes now. He believes in an honest, open primary where Republicans can make their own choice. He is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress, in this 26th district.

If you have to be told who to vote for, you won't vote for Brandon. If you answer to the beck and call of political bosses, you won't vote for Brandon.

If you still believe you have a right to make your own choice, if you still believe in the primary system of selection, if you want to strike down the "back room" plan of selecting candidates, then you WILL vote for J. Campbell Brandon.

Let's nominate Brandon. He can win in November.

Brandon for Congress Committee,
JOHN P. LOCKHART, Chairman.

Two checks, the 1933 for $54,200, and 1934, for $123,747, were sent by the AAA to Johnston's company.

Many Unable To Get Into Ben Franklin Auditorium For Program

Eight hundred people endeavored to get into the Benjamin Franklin junior high school auditorium Friday night and failed, for the simple reason that inside every seat, every inch of standing room, was taken. The occasion was a concert and entertainment staged by the recreational department of the Works Progress Administration.

Under the direction of Ben Shulansky, the WPA orchestra presented one of their now famous concert programs. Classical numbers, swing numbers, ballads, all of them had a place. Tommy Kersey, master-of-ceremonies, presided in his usual smooth manner, and the Montany dancers added spirit and color to the program with their numbers.

The concert and entertainment Friday night were the most pretentious things the recreational department has done thus far. The proof of their popularity is seen in the immense crowd that filled the auditorium and overflowed outdoors.

Hundred Attend Shenango League Dinner On Friday

Shenango Presbyterian League Meets At New Wilmington Church

One hundred members of the Shenango Presbyterian League of Young People assembled for a dinner-meeting Friday evening at 6 o'clock in the Neshannock Presbyterian church, New Wilmington.

This organization of young people from the 27 churches in Shenango Presbytery was born in New Castle a comparatively short time ago but has become one of the principal church groups of the region. Last night's social and conference meeting was enthusiastically attended and is to be the forerunner of many similar gatherings.

The president, Kenneth Weikal, of Mercer county, presided. The devotional period was conducted by the young people of Neshannock Presbyterian church.

Principal speaker was Rev. S. Franklin Mack, of New York City, a member of the board of foreign missions, who recently made a 25,000 mile trip through countries in South America where mission work is in progress. He traveled by airplane, automobile, railroad and steamship, and last night had an interesting story to tell. He emphasized the importance of the church in the present-day world and its mission enterprises. He proved to be a vigorous, humorous and very effective speaker.

Rev. Mack made the trip to New Wilmington especially for this young people's conference. His host during his stay here was Rev. A. M. Stevenson, of Ellwood City, a member of the Shenango Presbytery with special responsibility for the young people's league.

The league plans to be represented next week at the Youth Conference in Harrisburg.

'RIDES' LIMITED HERE, FINDS JAIL DOOR OPEN

After clinging perilously to the side of the locomotive of the speeding Capitol limited of the B. & O. railroad for part of the night, Bernard Mullen, who gave Pittsburgh as his home, was nabbed and arrested by a road patrolman in the New Castle Junction yards early this morning.

Alderman Wallace J. Ewing sent him to the county jail for 10 days, during which time police will check his record. He carried a gun when nabbed by Patrolman J. J. Dickerson.

Mullen suffered a painful ankle sprain when leaving the engine.

NEW CASTLE CREDIT EXCHANGE

Probably more people are in debt now than at any time since 1890—and 99% of these people are honest.

Let us presume that you have several past due accounts. You would like to pay them in full, but you cannot.

May we suggest four rules to keep faith with the man you owe—yet postpone payment of your just debt?

First—Get the jump on your creditor, telephone, write, or go and see him, before he breaks out in a rash of Please Remit.

Second—Don't make any promises you cannot keep.

Third—When you can spare a little cash distribute it fairly.

Fourth—CONTINUE DEALING WITH THE MAN TO WHOM YOU OWE MONEY. Your account may not be in the best shape, but since you must keep buying goods of the same general sort, you can, by giving your CASH business to the merchant, show good faith and your honest intentions—it also gives him a little profit to help carry your past due account on his books.

learned to know what her husband was thinking. It began physically, with the Roentgen and X-rays, bones photographed, bullets located.

A remarkable new device for "seeing inside of things" is reported to Alfred P. Sloan, Jr. by one of his laboratories. To learn what happens inside of an automobile cylinder when the gas explodes, a camera that takes 5,000 pictures a second, is geared to the crankshaft.

Explosion in the cylinder from "flame to ashes" lasts only one 250th part of a second, but during that flash the camera takes 20 separate photographs.

Old Daguerre when he took his first daguerre-types, and Ruskin, who praised them, never dreamed of that. The speed of light 186,000 miles a second, makes it possible.

A WONDERFUL thing is "micro-chemistry." It tells scientists that off the coast of Greenland Sea water contains more gold than in New York Harbor; that one village in Switzerland has less gold than another, because in the first the dew-drops contain more iodine.

Dr. Bendetti Piehler, of New York University, expects great things of microchemistry, developed originally by two Austrian scientists.

BESIDES BEING "the soul of wit" brevity is also a sign of youth. Senator Borah proved that he possesses brevity and youth after the Illinois primary election in which Col. Knox carried Chicago, and he, Senator Borah, carried the farming regions.

"Knox," said he, "carried Chicago. I carried Illinois."

MR. KING, Hawaiian Delegate to Congress, recommends the hulu-hulu to his fellow statesmen that would reduce. The hulu-hulu, he says is "a delightfully graceful dance not a hokey-hokey, as some might think."

Sedate Senators or Representatives dancing the hulu-hulu in straw skirts would be charming, but the same results could be obtained with less effort, by eating less—something that never occurred to the Hawaiians.

BEING NEW this is news. Prof. Moriarty, of the University of Southern California faculty, killed his wife and himself, and injured two young people in the front seat, by exploding a bomb in his automobile, holding the bomb in his hand. The unfortunate man had been drawn into gold mine speculation and complained in his rambling last note:

"There are so many crooks." Get-rich-quick schemes sometimes take more than a man's money." (Copyright, 1935, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International copyright and all other rights reserved.)

George Kennedy, police officer, was off duty last night on account of illness.

Police were informed yesterday that youths were discharging .22 rifles in Gunton park.

Lieutenant of Police Criswell and Patrolman Suber today recovered a car without license plates which belongs to the Rick Motor Car company. It was found in Croton avenue.

No wonder people feel depressed. Every magazine and they read offers to cure something funny that ails them.

More than a dozen young boys faced Mayor Charles E. McGrath today in private session, the boys having been accused of various pranks during the week. Each Saturday morning boys who are accused by police of alleged wrong-doing appear before His Honor. Their punishment in most instances consists of a severe lecture and they are permitted to go free.

Disbarred New Jersey Attorney Says "I Was Tortured Made To Confess"

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 18.—Paul H. Wendel, disbarred Trenton attorney, freed at last from the jail where he was held as the "confessed" slayer of Baby Lindbergh, was scheduled today to take detectives on a tour of the Coney Island section of Brooklyn in an effort to identify the house where he was allegedly held prisoner and "tortured."

District Attorney William F. X. Georgian, to whose office Wendel was brought after being released on bail last night, expressed confidence that arrests would be forthcoming in the kidnapping and torture case.

"I expect to arrest one of the group shortly," Georgian said. Wendel will be asked to look over pictures in the rogues' gallery in an effort to identify the four men he said forced the "confession" from him.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN PARENTS ARE HAPPY YOUR ONLY child is three.

"Pneumonia," says the doctor, and your heart sinks. Baby steadily grows worse and for days you can't breathe in comfort. You wait, and hope and pray. When the doctor comes he finds a turning for the better, and the following day you feel assured the danger point is past. But you still entertain some anxiety, till by and by, you know the child is safe toward recovery. How happy you are now! All else in the world is unimportant. You try to tell others how you feel but you cannot. As a father I have gone through emotions of this sort. I sometimes think that we have to flounder in the darkest corner of the valley, in order to enjoy most the sunlight on the mountain top.

You have an adolescent boy who plays on one of the school teams. He has not distinguished himself as a player. When the game in which he gets no special praise. One day you drop in to see the team at practice. You see some boys who are outstanding individual players. You wait and watch and listen. Finally you inquire about your boy, Bill, as if he were a stranger to you. The coach replies: "We have more spectacular players than Bill but no such other boy for teamwork. He is a model in sportsmanship, ready always for self-sacrifice for the team. He seems to have little concern about personal glory. That boy has a lot of character. I would like to meet Bill's parents; they can well be proud of him." When did you ever have a prouder moment?

Girl Gets Low Grades. You have a daughter in her second year of Junior High. She seems to have a glorious life of it with lots of friends and not much sign of worry over her homework. Her report card has on it some dangerously low grades. You are concerned, but you don't scold. Patiently you work out with her a regular time for evening home study on all nights preceding school days. She doesn't at first like the interference with her freedom, yet by your skillfulness and calmness you help her to adjust herself. You let her know you are available for help but don't impose yourself on her. Gradually she comes to you for aid; gradually she acquires better habits of home study. You are pleased and tell her so. Next term her grades are better. How you rejoice then! She grows in self-improvement, and at the end of her last year she brings home such grades as will place her on the honor roll.

You are sitting all alone some evening mending stockings, and this daughter comes and sits beside you. You lay down the stockings. You welcome her and meet her smile with yours. She tells you of some of her most intimate experiences at school and outside of school. She and you enjoy each other's company. Later reflecting, you say to yourself, "That was a very happy time."

On Court House Hill

Jason O. Shaner, of Ellwood City, has filed an application at the probate court for a divorce from his wife, Bernadette Devine Shaner, of Fourth avenue, Beaver Falls, on the grounds of desertion. The couple were married in Connellsville in September, 1935.

This is the last day on which voters can change their party affiliations at the permanent registration bureau at the court house. Clerk Thomas Edmunds kept the office open last night to accommodate those who could not get there during the day time. The office is also being kept open until 5 o'clock this evening. Not many changes are being made.

Much of the work in the probate office recently has been in connection with the filing of tax liens. After the liens from the different districts are filed they must all be entered in the books. There are about two thousand liens which were filed in 1931 which must now be revived. This also entails considerable clerical work.

County commissioners are now making preparations for the coming primary election. Booths, which have been stored in a garage near the court house have been repaired and inspections are being made of some houses in which elections are held, to see that they are cleaned up and in suitable shape. Following the last elections there were complaints that some of the buildings had glass broken out and were not adequately heated. It is hoped that the weather will warm up by April 28, but the way it has been acting so far this month there is no telling what it will be like.

Spring house cleaning is under way at the court house. Windows are being washed, floors scrubbed and carpets dusted. Some of the carpets have to be handled rather tenderly as they have become ripe in years and are liable to be sucked into the carpet sweeper.

With the coming primary but little over a week away, it is expected that campaign organizations will endeavor to whip up a little enthusiasm as they come down the home stretch. So far it has been one of those gum shoe campaigns, with candidates on a slow hunt for voters. The only state-wide offices to be filled this year are those of auditor general and state treasurer, and candidates of both the Republican and Democratic parties have done the campaigning. In the local field considerable quiet work has been done by the various candidates for assembly, congress, state senate and national delegates, but there hasn't seem to have been much enthusiasm worked up so far. Maybe the political pot, which has been so silently brewing, will begin to sizzle next week.

According to reports from other cities there appears to be some difference of opinion as to whether or not voters in registering under the permanent registration law should so state, at the time of registering, if there is any reason why they should require assistance when they go into the booth to vote. Registration Clerk Thomas Edmunds, thinks that it is not necessary, but he has asked County Solicitor William McElwee, Jr., for an opinion. Exhibiting one of the registration blanks Mr. Edmunds called attention to the fact that the question as to whether the voter will need assistance in the booth is not asked, but there is a question to be answered as to whether the voter can read and write. It may be this question that has caused the controversy in other cities. Some hold that the voter cannot be given assistance in the voting booth, unless he has stated his reason for needing assistance when he registered, while others maintain that it is not necessary to give a reason, and that the elector can make known his deficiency at the polls and be given assistance.

TWO HOMES ARE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING
BUTLER, Pa., April 18.—While Harry Miller of Petrolia was attending a meeting at the fire house a bolt of lightning struck the sun porch of his home Thursday night, demolished his radio, set fire to the building and shocked his daughter, Martha, and his mother, Mrs. Sarah Miller. The aerial was burned out and set fire to curtains and floors of the house.

About the same time a bolt of lightning struck the home of Fire Chief Earl McKinney but little damage was suffered.

GRIDDERS-FLOOR MEN WILL DINE

Dr. Jock Sutherland and Bob Thorn Invited As Speakers Here Next Wednesday

Annual High School Athletic Banquet At Washington High, Open To Public

Faculty Manager of Athletics Ralph H. Gardner today made the announcement of the combined football and basketball dinner for the New Castle high athletes at the Washington high cafeteria Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock. The event is a dinner-dance. The affair is open to the public.

Sutherland Invited
An invitation has been extended to Dr. John Bain "Jock" Sutherland to be one of the speakers, and Robert "Bob" Thorn, of Grove City College, who will have a message for the basketball men. Sutherland, of course, if he accepts will have something important for the football men. Thorn has already accepted the invitation, but owing to a recent illness Dr. Sutherland has not as yet accepted the invitation. It is earnestly hoped, however, that the popular Pitt Panther grid coach can make the trip here for the banquet.

The charge for the dinner and dance to follow in the gym will be 75 cents per plate per person. Reservations must be in by next Tuesday with Ralph H. Gardner or Principal Frank L. Orth, of Senior high.

An affair of this nature has not been held for several years and it is drawing quite a bit of interest. Many football and basketball fans are expected to avail themselves of the opportunity of sitting in with the football heroes and the basketball heroes.

ST. JOHNS BOYS TO MEET

New Castle Golf League To Play Tuesday Nights

Playing Day Is Changed At Meeting Of Team Representatives At Sylvan Heights

At a meeting of the representatives of the teams in the New Castle Golf League the playing night of the league was changed from Thursday night to Tuesday night during the coming season. This change was effected in order to permit the New Castle Church league teams to play at the Sylvan Heights course on Thursday evenings.

The league will open its season on Tuesday evening, May 5, instead of Thursday evening, May 7, as had been decided upon at a previous meeting. The league representatives also voted to establish a fund which will be used at the end of the season to stage a banquet for players only when the league awards will be presented. This fund will be built up from an assessment of 10 cents per player per week. George Shook was elected treasurer and will have custody of the fund.

The league will consist of 16 teams and all is in readiness for the opening of the season early in May. Arrangements were also made at the meeting last evening for a fish fry for the players and their friends on Thursday evening, April 30, when 200 golfers are expected to assemble at the Sylvan Heights course for a jubilation prior to the opening of the season.

NINE TIGERS TO MEET
The Nine Tigers baseball team will have an important meeting tonight at the home of William "Spikie" Quinn at 7:30 o'clock. All members of the 1935 team and others are asked to attend the meeting. There were ornery town loafers in the old days, too, but nobody thought of paying them for it.

BUSINESS MEN GOLFERS WILL MEET MONDAY
Members of the Business Men's golf league will meet at the "Y" on Monday night at eight o'clock for the purpose of closing the league franchise and of making up a schedule for the coming golf season.

The following teams should have their representatives at the meeting: Independent Grocers, Shengango Tin Offices, Bell Phones, Penn Powers, New Castle News, Bankers and New Castle Dry.

JUNIORS WILL MEET
A meeting of the following junior softball players will be held at the St. Andrews church next Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock: Dinks Lane, Tom Price, Carl Campbell, B. Rowe, P. Guido, Fred Riley, Bill Price, Joe Wright, Bill Rhodes, Harry Falls, Dick Hietich, Dave Evans, Kenny Evans, Skinny Eckles, Paul Small, John Cabas, Steve Teplica, Bill Wright, Dick Gregor, Austie Lewis.

Pirates-Cards Are Ready For Opening Today

Snow Flurries Halt Baseball Opening At Forbes Field Friday

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 18.—Driven to cover by snow flurries yesterday, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the St. Louis Cardinals were to try again today to open the local 1936 baseball season.
Red Lucas and Tommy Padden will form the battery for the locals and Southpaw Bill Hallahan and Spud Davis will do similar duties for the visitors. All the pomp and ceremony scheduled for yesterday will be carried out if the weather permits.

Jacobs Offered One Million For Heavyweight Bout

San Diego Exposition Men Offer Staggering Sum To Mike Jacobs Today

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 18.—Uncle Mike Jacobs woke up this morning to find that his Joe Louis and Max Schmeling bout had a beautiful price on its head.
It is worth a cool million dollars and though this set figure comes from a theatrical firm it is not stage money.
The stage firm of Pantheon and Marco, acting as agents for the San Diego Exposition, walked in on our Uncle Mike and asked him if he wanted to sell, cold turkey, no ifs, ands or buts about it, just would he sell?

Today will be the showdown. Marco, who is negotiating for the exposition in general, and Frank Belcher and Wayne Dillard, president and general manager, respectively, of the Southern California Fair, is ready to plunk down—this day—$500,000 in cash as eye-opener, the money to be placed in escrow and some time later, within a matter of several days or, the other $500,000 will go into a local bank.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Decathlon crown tottered on the brow of Clyde Coffman of Topeka, Kas., today after the first five events of the all-around track and field meet held in connection with the 14th annual Kansas relays yesterday at Lawrence, Kas. Looming as a possible successor was a young Denver auto salesman, Glenn Morris, who jumped into the lead at the halfway mark with 4,135 points. Coffman was in second place with 3,908 points.

Donald Budge added the North and South championship to his collection of tennis titles yesterday at Pinehurst by defeating Hal Surl. The women's crown was captured by Eunice Dean of San Antonio, Tex., who beat Mrs. Virginia Rice Johnson of Boston.

Pennsylvania State Association, a class D loop, may not operate this year because of a scarcity of clubs. If President Elmer Daily can secure two more clubs the circuit will probably operate.

Dick Shikat, wrestler, has been barred by the Pennsylvania state commission until he appears personally before the mat solons and explains his refusal to honor contracts.

Grove Pitches Two-Hit Game Against Yanks

"Lefty" Grove All Washed Up, But Still Able To Throw Them Over The Plate

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer
NEW YORK, April 18.—There's something wrong here. Either the experts are all wet or Lefty Grove is all washed up. And, judging by the records, an innocent bystander must be forced to conclude that the former is the case.
The experts assured us that Lefty was through despite the fact he won 20 games last year and had the lowest earned run average (2.70 per game) in the American League.
But, said the experts, that was his swan song. The boys will slaughter him this season.

Allows Two Hits
Maybe Lefty hadn't heard he was ready for the cleaners or if he did, maybe he didn't believe it. In any event, he stepped out yesterday on a day more suitable for skating than baseball and shut out the Yanks with two puny hits, both singles by Lou Gehrig.

Not a man saw second base against the lean left hander and if the old boy's through, the experts are going to have a very tough time indeed convincing the Yankees that he is.

We Want Ruth
Lefty's brother millionaires of the Red Sox made life pleasant for him by pounding Ruffing and Sunda for 10 hits and an 8-0 decision, and while they were doing it some 25,000 of the local citizenry yelled and yowled "We want Ruth," a chant which must have been soul-satisfying to the illustrious Bambino who sat in a box and watched his old buddies shoved around.

To add to Joe McCarthy's grief, Jimmy DeShong, whom Joe shipped down to Washington, turned up with a two-hit game against the Athletics, which may or may not come under the head of a notable performance, the A's being what they are. One of the two hits was a homer by Pink Higgins.

Senators Win
The Senators got to Harry Kelly, a 29-year-old rookie for 13 hits but had to go the hard way to win 3-2. The White Sox and Johnny Whitehead-off to another great start together—trimmed the Tigers 5-3. Auker didn't pitch a bad game but one poor inning ruined him.

The Giants, like the White Sox, continue unbeaten and may remain so until they stack up against more opposition than Dodgers and Bees have afforded. The Bees hammered Hubbell hard enough to derick him but the Giants were even worse on Reils and won 4 to 3 on Bill Terry's pinchhit clearing the bases.

Cincinnati Tops Cubs
The Reds, paced by Babe Herman's home run run, ganged up on three Cub pitchers for a 13-3 verdict.

The Dodgers at last found somebody they could lick. They took the Phils, 4 to 3, but had to travel 100 miles to do it. Fred Frankhouse held the Phils to eight hits, half of which were made in one inning when the Phils got all their runs. The Indians finally routed the Browns, 13 to 10, on three runs scored in the tenth inning, at St. Louis. The local team had to use four hurlers.

His Picture Whispered

Vance Muse (above) manager of the Southern Committee to Uphold the Constitution, an anti-New Deal organization, shown as he testified before the Senate lobby investigating committee. Muse admitted he had caused circulation through the south of pictures of Mrs. Roosevelt "entering a Negro meeting with two Negro escorts".

CURTIS TEAM—Members of the United States Curtis cup team sail for England. Patty Berg, baby of team, is at left.

Hero And Goat

(International News Service)
The hero—Lefty Mose Grove, who held the New York Yankees to two hits, permitted none to reach second and shut them out for the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 0.
The goat—Tony Lazzeri, who in the same game dropped a fly ball and permitted three Red Sox to score.

Announce Program For Keystone A. C. Banquet On Tuesday

Fred Marcella and Dewey Casimiri of the entertainment committee of the Keystone A. C. today announced a program of fine entertainment for the Keystone A. C. banquet to be held next Tuesday night at the Community hall on Grove street.
James Harper, night club figure in Ohio and Pennsylvania, will do some tap and ballroom dancing numbers. Mike Turco will render several songs. Enzo Restivo and Larry Veri will play piano numbers. John Ferro will imitate "Bing Crosby". Bert Foster will render tenor selections. Mrs. Mabel Mastrangelo will do an operatic number. Frank Merando will play the saxophone. Sam Mangieri will play the accordion. Mrs. Olga Baptiste, formerly of San Francisco, will sing some blues numbers.

Ryantown Team To Meet Sunday

Manager Joe Samuels has called the first practice session of the year for the Ryantown team for Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Ryantown field. (weather permitting).

The weather has been anything but good for baseball lately, but the boys are hoping for a break one of these days and with a lot of nice warm sunshine the baseball will start to fly, according to Frank Heasley, business manager of the team.

Ryantown plans to put a fast independent team on the diamond this summer.

Vines Defeats Les Stoeften

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—By virtue of a third-set rally Ellsworth Vines today held another victory over Les Stoeften, his professional exhibition game rival. The scores were 7-9, 6-1, 7-5.

After George Lott defeated Berkeley Bell, 6-4, 6-4, Vines and Bell teamed up to win from Lott and Stoeften in doubles, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2. Less than 1,000 fans attended the matches, which were expected to draw several times that number.

Just Mere Handful Of Fans Turnout For Opening Game In Philadelphia

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—Connie Mack's Athletic rookies and the visiting Washington Senators kept their fingers crossed this morning in the hope some Philadelphia fans will come out to see them play baseball today.

The A's were given a chilly reception in their 1936 inaugural game here when less than 400 fans paid admission to Shibe Park to see yesterday's game. In the park built to accommodate 35,000, the handful of spectators set an all-time low for a Mack curtain raiser.

With other teams gathering record crowds, observers said, the poor showing here could not be blamed on the chilly weather. They placed the responsibility on Mack's sale of his 1935 stars, declaring the fans weren't interested in a gang of rookies who haven't won a 1936 big league ball game.

On the other hand, it was recalled, the fans got tired of going to Shibe Park and watching the A's continually win, a situation which was even more disastrous to the Athletics treasury since in those days the latter was used to finance many high-salaries stars.

It seems to be a rule. The heavier and fancier his golf bag, the prouder he feels of a 90-yard drive.

Will Try To Add To Employment

President's Baltimore Speech Seen As Desire To End Unemployment

VARIOUS IDEAS ARE SUGGESTED

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, April 18.—President Roosevelt's recent Baltimore speech generally has been taken in Washington, and I suppose elsewhere throughout the country, as implying that the White House tenant is particularly interested now in the relief of unemployment.
This is accepted as a highly praise-worthy program.
Business is improving. Maybe that does not need to be much further worried about—if business continues on the upgrade. But unemployment is nearly as life as ever. That, then, is the problem to be concentrated on henceforward.

PRESIDENT'S PROPOSALS

The president has quite a clear idea as to what should be done.
In the first place, shorten the working day or the working week, or both.
Second, give the worker a guarantee of a fixed annual income; many who are quite well paid while actually employed are the victims of such frequently lapses between jobs that their living allowances are altogether inadequate, annually speaking.
Third, keep youth, below the age, say, of 18, out of the labor market; also pension off superannuated workers, at 65 or thereabouts.

"SHARE-THE-WORK"

Shortening the day or week or both was the earliest suggestion, made under the Hoover regime when the depression set in. It was referred to as a share-the-work plan.
Employers were friendly to it, but they wanted to cut pay in proportion to time reduction. That is to say, if an employer had two eight-hour per day workers and thought he could do with one, he was willing to retain both on a four-hour each per day basis, but at one-half of his previous eight-hour per day workers.
Perhaps this would have been some consolation to the worker who, otherwise, was due to go 100 per cent overboard, but 50 per cent less than none to the one who hoped to be retained 100 per cent on the payroll.
In other words, the notion was to make labor bear the whole expense of the depression.

NO WAGE CUT

President Roosevelt proposes that hours or days shall be cut with no cut in wages.
Which, from the employers' standpoint, must be equivalent to a stiff aggregate wage increase—no more per man, but more men to deliver the old-time volume of production.

What follows?
Why, the employers, to maintain the profits of their respective industries in the face of an increased overhead, boost prices to consumers. Living costs rise; the worker, while getting, in dollars and cents, as much as ever, can buy less with it. In effect, his pay has been cut anyway.

THREE GROUPS AT ODDS

Or else:
Labor's pay isn't cut. Consumerism isn't muted.
Then the difference must come out of the industry's dividends.
There are three groups at odds.

MANAGEMENT'S PLIGHT

There is a fourth group and a miserable one—management. It has consumerism to reckon with. Also labor. It can see how they may be reconcilable. But when it turns to capital, which has financed the whole thing upon billions of watered stock, it gets the answer:
"Our dividends upon billions—that never were invested!"
Thus, even intelligent management is handicapped.

NOTHING MUCH TO SAY

As to a fixed annual income, the federal government, of course, has nothing to say.
Nor can it promise regular annual incomes.
The question of youth in the industries still tends on the corresponding amendment to the constitution.
Old age pensions are dependent also on state legislation in part.

My New York

By James Aswell

(Copyright, 1936, by Central Press Assn.)
NEW YORK, April 18.—The town is ga-ga over spiritualism again. But today's traffic with the shades is conducted on a much more ritzy plane than that of a generation ago when groups gathered in musty red-plush parlors to see tables move and converse with Uncle Nemo, who died in 1888.

Manhattan's successful emissaries, among the living, to the lands beyond the Styx are nowadays suave and educated gentry who wear afternoon trousers and wing collars and keep office hours in skyscraper suites next door to the leading psychiatrists of the hour. They get thumping fees and may have gone to Oxford.

At any rate, they no longer have Mark Twain's returning shade speak in the accents of Jimmy Durante. Mr. Fred Menagh, a friend and a young newspaperman of renown and industry, has been investigating the leading spirit-invokers of the city, including that 1936 variation, the "psychometrist," and his word pictures of spiritualism in modern Manhattan were so engrossing that I induced him to set down some of them in the belief that my readers may be interested.

By FRED MENAGH
It was while searching Manhattan from top to bottom for a "haunted house" that I stumbled on to my first genuine experience with spirits and spiritualists. Hearing of a "de-haunter" of houses, I decided to look him up. He turned out to be none other than Mr. Frank Decker, labeled by the foremost spiritualists of the day as a "dependable physical phenomenon." This phrase, I was to learn, meant that Mr. Decker, as a medium, is one of the few who materializes disembodied spirits so that members of his audience can shake hands with them. After ascertaining that I was not seeking to expose spirit mediums, Mr. Decker invited me to attend a seance conducted in his apartment in the West Seventies.

Among the audience was a Fifth Avenue physician, a wealthy retired real estate man, and a bevy of women who appeared as though they might be well connected socially. All of the group, I learned, were steady customers of Mr. Decker. And the physician, it developed, was even attending private spiritualistic classes conducted by Mr. Decker.

The seance was conducted in the darkened living room of the apartment, its windows and doors made absolutely light-proof by heavy velvet curtains. Before the lights were turned out one member of the group warned the audience not to hold on to the hand of any spirit which they might be greeting. This, it was explained, might cause the spirit to suddenly de-materialize, the ectoplasm "snapping back with great force into the throat of Mr. Decker with possible injurious effects."

Once the seance was well under way there seemed to be spirits singing and conversing from every corner of the room. Almost immediately I was greeted by the Decker guardian spirit, a child called "Patsy." "Patsy" proceeded to mystify each member of the group by announcing that he would touch the left ear of every person there. Then he proceeded to do it. In contrast to "Patsy's" high soprano was the deep bass of another spirit named "Bert Wells." Members of the group seemed familiar with him and referred to him as "the master of ceremonies."

I must admit that Wells did a good job of keeping order, repeatedly rapping the knees, and even the heads of over-talkative persons with an aluminum trumpet. He even spotted the luminous dial on my wrist watch and requested that I refrain from crossing my knees. There is always the danger, I suppose, that some unwary spirit might trip over an outstretched foot in the dark.

Most amusing to me was the lengthy and fantastic conversation held by the physician with the guardian spirit that had been assigned to him by Mr. Decker and the higher forces. The guardian spirit turned out to be an Indian, dead three or four hundred years, by the name of "Swaying Pine." He and the doctor conversed for some minutes concerning the obscure ailment of a female patient who, it seemed, had put in a very painful day.

"I felt your presence right beside me this afternoon," the doctor told "Swaying Pine."

"Me there," responded the guardian spirit. "While woman in heap big pain. But me quiet num. Me quiet num."

The physician's dead father was also materialized, and demonstrated his physical materialization to everyone's amazement by helping the doctor off with his coat and then on with it again. The doctor was almost overcome with joy and chatted cheerfully with his departed daddy.

Male Students Insist On Vote For May Queen

Temple Aroused Over Controversy Over Selection Of May Queen

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—Temple University co-eds were aroused today over the insistence of male students that they be allowed to vote for the prettiest and most popular girl on the campus in the May Queen election.

"Since the May Queen represents the whole school, men as well as women, the selection should be made from a majority opinion of the student body," declared Lloyd Wise, president of the students' commission, in ruling the balloting on Tuesday open to men.

"Oh, yeah?" was the collective answer of the girls, who hitherto have had complete charge of the pageant. Miss Virginia Bagans, president of the Women's League, breathed defiance.

"The students' commission is acting in a dictatorial manner," she asserted, "and we certainly will not accede to it."

AROUND CITY HALL
City department of police is co-operating with the Junior Chamber of commerce's Safety Drive, and Chief of police John P. Haven believes that if automobile operators employ caution New Castle may win the national safety drive for 1936.

The chief pointed out that from September 6, 1935 to April 6, 1936, only one auto fatality occurred on city streets. In speaking of the efforts of the department he said that he believes the motorists can do considerably to help the city win and therefore he made the request: "Please be cautious when operating an automobile."

All of the local police officers made good marks in the police school examination conducted by State Police Lieutenant Keller and Sergeant Pierce. The men believe the school worth while. They studied conscientiously and this was reflected in the marks achieved, according to Keller.

With spring here and auto traffic certain to increase it is anticipated that the police motorcycle will again be restored to service. It has not been ridden for some weeks owing to injuries sustained by Ray Showalter. It is not known who will be the motorcycle patrolmen if Showalter decides to ask for relief from that position.
